L1: What powered the Industrial Revolution, and how did a Fareham ironmaster change the world?

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- ☐ Explain the difference between the domestic system and the factory system.
- ☐ Explain the significance of Henry Cort's puddling and rolling processes.
- ☐ Evaluate the importance of location versus innovation in Cort's success.

Do Now Activity

Score: / 5

What is meant by the term 'Divine Right of Kings'?

Who became King after the English Civil War ended and Oliver Cromwell died?

Why did the Gunpowder Plot of 1605 fail?

What was the significance of the Magna Carta signed in 1215?

Why did Henry VIII break away from the Catholic Church?

Vocabulary Check

Write a short paragraph using at least FOUR of the vocabulary words below correctly.

Industrial Revolution | Pig Iron | Wrought Iron | Puddling Process | Rolling Mill

Q1. Why was James Watt's improvement of the steam engine so significant for the location of factories?

KNOWLEDGE CHECK (Q2)

What was the primary purpose of the 'Puddling Process' invented by Cort?

- ☐ A. To hammer the iron into shape by hand.
 - ☐ B. To stir molten iron and burn off carbon impurities.
 - ☐ C. To make iron brittle and easy to snap.
 - ☐ D. To import iron from Sweden more efficiently.

Q3. Why did Henry Cort decide to take over the Funtley Ironworks in 1775?

Q4. What two major inventions did Henry Cort patent at Funtley in the 1780s?

Q5. Study Source A. How does the physical design of the puddling furnace show that Cort was trying to solve the problem of 'pig iron' impurities?

Q6. Why did Cort die in poverty despite his world-changing inventions?

Q7. Why were Henry Cort's inventions so vital to the growth of the British Empire?

Q8. Write a structured paragraph answering the following: "To what extent was the proximity to the Portsmouth dockyards the most important factor in the success of the Funtley Ironworks?"

Q9. Chronology Challenge: Place the following in the correct causal order and write one sentence explaining how each led to the next: Watt's Steam Engine, The Domestic System, Cort's Puddling Furnace.

Q10. Why do modern historians argue that the profits from the Transatlantic Slave Trade were essential to the Industrial Revolution?

Pair & Share Activity

Q11. Prompt: Discuss with your partner: What was the most important factor that powered the Industrial Revolution?

Think: Spend 1 minute quietly considering the question and forming your own opinion.

What two major iron-making processes did Henry Cort patent at the Funtley Ironworks in the 1780s?

Why did Henry Cort specifically choose to locate his ironworks near Fareham?

What tragic event caused Henry Cort to lose his patents and die in poverty?

What was the primary cause of the English Civil War?

What was the result of the Spanish Armada in 1588?

Vocabulary Check

Write a historically accurate sentence connecting two terms from the glossary box below.

Fareham Reds | Pug Mill | Primary Source | Historiography | Factory Acts

Your Sentence:

Q1. What was the main difference between the child labour used in the 'domestic system' compared to the new 'factory system'?

Q2. How useful is the 1832 Sadler Report for a historian studying the reality of child labour?

Q3. Sort the following factors into the correct chronological order to explain the boom in Fareham's economy: A) Railways are built to transport heavy goods, B) London's population explodes, C) Fareham Reds are used to build the Royal Albert Hall, D) Massive demand for building materials is created.

Q4. Why might a historian need to look at BOTH a national interview (like the Sadler Report) AND a local document (like the 1881 Fareham Census) to fully understand child labour?

Q5. Write a structured paragraph answering: 'To what extent was the Industrial Revolution a punishment rather than progress for the working classes?'

Pair & Share Activity

Q6. Prompt: Discuss with your partner: Was factory work progress or punishment?

Think: Spend 1 minute quietly considering the question and forming your own opinion.

What are 'Fareham Reds'?

Name one highly dangerous or physically demanding job a child might perform in a 19th-century textile mill or brickfield.

Why did factory owners actively prefer to hire children rather than adults?

Explain how Henry Cort's inventions at the Funtley Ironworks helped power the Industrial Revolution globally.

Why do 'Optimist' and 'Pessimist' historians disagree about the impact of the Industrial Revolution on working-class families?

Vocabulary Check

Write a clear definition and a historically accurate sentence for the term: Urbanisation

Q1. Conceptual Analysis: Based on Source B, what was the primary concern of the Victorian contractors when building 'cottages' for their workers?

Q2. Language Analysis: Look at Source A. Why do you think Edwin Chadwick chose to compare the deaths in the slums to the deaths in a 'modern war'?

Q3. Source Comparison: How does Source C provide a different historical perspective to Source B?

Q4. Turning Point: Why did it take the 'Great Stink' for the government to finally abandon its 'laissez-faire' policy?

Q5. Extended Writing: Write a structured paragraph answering: 'To what extent did industrialisation make British towns unlivable?'

Pair & Share Activity

Q6. Prompt: Discuss with your partner: Did industrialisation make British towns unlivable?

L4: How was the British Empire built and sustained?

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- ☐ Explain the transition of imperial rule from private mercantilism to direct state control.
- ☐ Evaluate how domestic industrial complexes sustained global naval supremacy.
- ☐ Deconstruct primary source provenance to determine historical utility.

Do Now Activity

Score: / 3

Why did Victorian builders heavily rely on 'Fareham Red' bricks during the rapid urbanisation of the 19th century?

How did the 1842 Chadwick Report challenge the traditional government policy of 'laissez-faire'?

What scientific breakthrough did Dr. John Snow achieve during the 1854 cholera outbreak in Soho?

Vocabulary Check

Write a short paragraph using at least FOUR of the vocabulary words below correctly.

Mercantilism | British Raj | Two-Power Standard | Ironclad | Captive Market | East India Company (EIC) | Sepoy Mutiny | Naval Supremacy

Q1. Categorise the drivers of the East India Company's expansion in India into Economic, Military, or Political factors using structured bullet points.

Q2. Analyze the motive behind the EIC directive provided in the source. How does this corporate motive impact its usefulness for a historian investigating the causes of the 1857 Rebellion?

Q3. Explain the significance of Portsmouth Dockyard in maintaining Britain's global imperial supremacy during the 19th century.

Q4. Compare the perspective of the dockyard worker in the source with the official government policy of the 'Two-Power Standard'. How does the provenance of this letter affect its reliability for a historian studying the human cost of empire?

Q5. Synthesis Assessment : 'The British Empire was built and sustained by technological progress rather than violence and exploitation.' To what extent do you agree with this interpretation? Use the IDEA framework and evidence from across the unit (including Henry Cort, factory work, and Portsmouth Dockyard) to support your argument.

L6: How did ordinary people fight for a voice?

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- ☐ Analyse how industrialisation and agricultural change provoked violent working-class resistance.
- ☐ Evaluate how the Chartist movement shifted working-class strategy toward constitutional reform.
- ☐ Assess primary source utility through provenance and tone analysis.

Do Now Activity

Score: / 3

What private corporate entity controlled British commercial and military interests in India until its formal abolition in 1858?

What was the 'Two-Power Standard' followed by the British government in the 19th century?

How did the industrial workforce at Portsmouth Dockyard directly support British naval supremacy?

Vocabulary Check

Write a clear definition and a historically accurate sentence for the term: Franchise

Q1. Construct a brief chronological timeline showing the progression of working-class resistance and state response between 1819 and 1848 based on the scope of this lesson's themes.

Q2. Analyze how the provenance and anonymous nature of the 'Captain Swing' source impact its usefulness for a historian investigating working-class grievances during the 1830 riots.

Q3. Why did the British government use an obscure law about 'secret oaths' to convict the Tolpuddle Martyrs in 1834?

Q4. Assume the persona of a Chartist speaker at the mass rally at Kennington Common in 1848. Deliver a brief speech explaining to your fellow workers why winning the 'People's Charter' is the only permanent solution to factory and agrarian misery.

Q5. Synthesis Assessment : 'The violent machine-breaking of the Swing Riots posed a far greater threat to the British establishment than the political campaigning of the Chartists.' To what extent do you agree with this interpretation? Use evidence from across the lesson to support your argument.

What was a 'Rotten Borough' in the pre-reform British electoral system, and what local Hampshire example illustrates this corruption?

How did the 1832 Great Reform Act deliberately attempt to stabilize elite power while expanding the franchise?

Why was the introduction of the 1872 Secret Ballot Act considered a devastating blow to upper-class political intimidation?

Vocabulary Check

Write a historically accurate sentence connecting two terms from the glossary box below.

Synthesis | Historiographical Debate | Façade | Oligarchy | Concession

Your Sentence:

Q1. Categorise the following list of historical facts into either 'Evidence of National Progress & Wealth' (The Optimist View) or 'Evidence of Working-Class / Colonial Exploitation' (The Pessimist View) by writing them under the correct headings: 1. Henry Cort's puddling process increases iron production by 400%. 2. The 1881 Fareham Census records 10-year-old boys working as 'pug boys' in clay pits. 3. Indian handloom weavers are forced into starvation by English 'captive market' trade laws. 4. Fareham Red bricks are selected to construct the Royal Albert Hall in London. 5. Edwin Chadwick records that deaths from filth and overcrowding in industrial towns outnumber casualties in modern wars. 6. HMS Warrior enforces the 'Two-Power Standard' globally, protecting merchant shipping lanes.

Q2. Using the Point, Evidence, Explanation (P.E.E.) framework, write a high-quality paragraph arguing that the working classes paid the physical price for Britain's industrial and imperial progress.

Q3. Historical Reasoning: Explain why it is historically inaccurate to argue that the British ruling class expanded the right to vote out of a belief in fairness and equality.
