📌 ESSENTIAL FIELD GUIDELINES FOR PUPILS

Wear sturdy walking boots and waterproof layers. Keep this guide, a pencil, and your phone in a secure daypack. At each site, listen carefully to staff orientations before beginning your personal observations.

The Lowry Family Heritage

Three sons of Arthur and Eleanor Lowry of Stubbington attended Stubbington House School—the historic preparatory school whose grounds now form part of our local community. All three brothers received officer commissions; all three made extraordinary sacrifices across the major theatres of the Great War.

Capt. William Lowry

2nd Bn, King's Own (Royal Lancaster)

Killed leading assault on Frezenberg Ridge, Second Ypres, 8 May 1915, aged 26.

Body never recovered. Commemorated on Menin Gate Panel 12.

📍 Menin Gate (Panel 12)

Capt. Cyril Lowry

4th Bn, North Staffordshire Regt

Mortally wounded commanding front trenches at Zonnebeke, Passchendaele, 26 Sept 1917, aged 22.

Buried in Tyne Cot Cemetery (Plot LXII. D. 12).

📍 Tyne Cot (Plot LXII. D. 12)

Lt. Col. Eric Lowry

2nd Bn, Prince of Wales's Volunteers

Survived intense actions on Western Front, wounded twice, awarded DSO.

Continued serving in regular army, bearing lifelong trauma of brothers' loss.

🏅 Survived: DSO & MiD

🔍 PUPIL FIELD INQUIRY: THE LOWRY MEMORIAL AT TYNE COT

When we reach Plot LXII at Tyne Cot, locate Captain Cyril Lowry's headstone. Note the cross emblem, his age (just 22), and read the family inscription: "In Proud and Loving Memory". How does standing at an individual grave change our comprehension of Passchendaele compared to looking across 11,000 stones?

📌 CADET FIELD NOTES (THE LOWRY BROTHERS & PLOT LXII):

RECORD OBSERVATIONS ON SITE

The Holy Rood Memorial Roll

The memorial plaque inside Holy Rood Church, Stubbington, records the names of men from our village who did not return. Six of these local soldiers fell in the Ypres Salient and the battle of Passchendaele:

Soldier	Regiment / Unit	Salient Location
Pte. Walter Spratt	1st Bn, Hampshire Regt	Ploegsteert (Missing)
Sgt. Frank Rogers	2nd Bn, Hampshire Regt	Menin Gate (Panel 35)
L/Cpl. Arthur Newman	Royal Engineers (Signals)	Tyne Cot Memorial
Pte. George Stares	8th Bn, Hampshire Regt	Bedford House Cemetery
Dvr. Edward Vear	Royal Field Artillery	Brandhoek Military Cemetery
Cpl. Harry Freemantle	Royal Marine Artillery	Dunkirk / Ypres Coast

The Memorial Tablet inside Holy Rood Church, Stubbington, commemorating our parish fallen.

Parish Remembrance: These men walked the same village lanes we walk today. During our tour, we will pause and lay a personal remembrance marker at each of their commemorative panels.

Case Study: Private Valentine Joe Strudwick (Age 15)

Essex Farm • Plot I. U. 8

Valentine Strudwick enlisted at 14, claiming he was 19. Sent to the Ypres Salient, he survived intense shellfire before being killed in action on 14 January 1916—just one month before his 16th birthday. He is one of the youngest recorded British casualties of the war.

Mother's Inscription: "Not Gone From Memory, Not Gone From Love, But Gone To Our Father's Home Above."

 CADET REFLECTION (BOY SOLDIERS & UNDERAGE ENLISTMENT):

REFLECT ON VALENTINE STRUDWICK'S AGE VS YOUR OWN

Standard CWGC Portland Stone Headstone (81cm high, 38cm wide, 7.5cm thick).

The 5 Elements of a CWGC Headstone

- 1. Regimental Badge: Carved at the top with extraordinary detail.
- 2. Identification: Service Number, Rank, Name, Honours, Regiment. All ranks receive identical stones.
- 3. Religious Emblem: Latin Cross, Star of David, or left blank.
- 4. Date & Age: The exact date fallen and age.
- 5. Personal Inscription: Up to 66 letters chosen by family.

Unknown Soldiers: Kipling's epitaph: "A Soldier of the Great War — Known Unto God."

The Geography of the Salient: Why Did So Many Die Here?

A salient is an outward bulge in military frontlines, surrounded by the enemy on three sides. British, Canadian, Australian, and French troops holding Ypres were overlooked by German observers on higher ridges. German artillery batteries could shell Allied positions from the north, east, and south simultaneously.

Water Table & Clay: Digging down struck water; trenches became liquid mud.

Convergence of Shellfire: Heavy artillery caused over 70% of casualties.

Concrete bunkers of Essex Farm ADS dug into the canal embankment.

Advanced Dressing Station (ADS): Frontline triage post where surgeons worked by candlelight treating horrific wounds. McCrae penned In Flanders Fields here on 3 May 1915.

Lt. Col. John McCrae

1872–1918 • Canadian Army Medical Corps

Physician and soldier from Ontario. Served as brigade surgeon during Second Ypres. Penned his famous poem in the back of an ambulance on 3 May 1915 following the funeral of his friend Lt. Alexis Helmer. Died of pneumonia in 1918.

In Flanders Fields

BY LT. COL. JOHN MCCRAE • COMPOSED AT ESSEX FARM, 3 MAY 1915

*In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.*

*We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie,
In Flanders fields.*

*Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.*

 CADET FIELD NOTES (ESSEX FARM BUNKERS & YORKSHIRE TRENCH DUCKBOARDS):

RECORD OBSERVATIONS ON SITE

The Somber Atmosphere of Langemarck

Langemarck stands in powerful contrast to the white Portland stone of CWGC cemeteries. Known as the Studentenfriedhof, it commemorates thousands of student volunteers fallen in 1914.

Kameradengrab (Comrades' Grave): 24,917 German soldiers buried in a single mass grave.

Emil Krieger's Statues: Four bronze mourning figures standing sentinel beneath the oaks.

Charles Hamilton Sorley

1895–1915 • Captain, 7th Suffolk Regiment

Scottish poet born in Aberdeen; educated at Marlborough and Oxford. Lived in Germany before the war. Killed by a sniper at the Battle of Loos on 13 October 1915, aged 20. His stark sonnet was found in his kitbag after his death, rejecting patriotic vanity.

When You See Millions of the Mouthless Dead

BY CHARLES HAMILTON SORLEY • FOUND IN HIS KITBAG, OCTOBER 1915

*When you see millions of the mouthless dead
Across your dreams in pale battalions go,
Say not soft things as other men have said,
That you'll remember. For you need not so.
Give them not praise. For, deaf, how should they know
It is not curses heaped on each gashed head?
Nor tears. Their blind eyes see not your tears flow.
Nor honour. It is easy to be dead.
Say only this, "They are dead." Then add thereto,
"Yet many a better one has died before."
Then, scanning all the o'ercrowded mass, should you
Perceive one face that you loved heretofore,
It is a spook. None wears the face you knew.
Great death has made all his for evermore.*

 CADET COMPARATIVE NOTES (LANGEMARCK BASALT VS CWGC PORTLAND STONE): HOW DOES ARCHITECTURE SHAPE REMEMBRANCE?

The Hooze Crater site: Where underground mines blew massive chasms in the ridge.

Isaac Rosenberg

1890–1918 · Private, King's Own Royal Lancaster Regt

Working-class Jewish painter and poet from Whitechapel; studied at the Slade School. Enlisted in a 'Bantam' battalion. Wrote visceral poetry on scraps of cardboard in Flemish mud. Killed in action near Arras on 1 April 1918.

Vancouver Corner & Hooze: On 22 April 1915, German forces released 168 tons of chlorine gas. Canadian troops heroically held the line. At Hooze, tunnelling units detonated 1,700lb ammonal mines.

Break of Day in the Trenches

BY ISAAC ROSENBERG · WRITTEN IN FLANDERS MUD, JUNE 1916

*The darkness crumbles away.
It is the same old druid Time as ever,
Only a live thing leaps on my hand,
A queer, sardonic rat,
As I pull the parapet's poppy
To stick behind my ear.
Droll rat, they would shoot you if they knew
Your cosmopolitan sympathies,
Now you have touched this English hand
You will have the same chance for a German...
Poppies whose roots are in man's veins
Drop, and are ever dropping;
But mine in my ear is safe—
Just a little white with the dust.*

 CADET FIELD OBSERVATIONS (GAS WARFARE & TRENCH MINE CRATERS):

RECORD OBSERVATIONS ON SITE

The Cross of Sacrifice erected atop a captured German pillbox at Tyne Cot.

The Largest Commonwealth Cemetery: 11,961 soldiers lie buried here, 8,369 of them unidentified. Sir Herbert Baker incorporated three captured German machine-gun pillboxes directly into the cemetery.

Laurence Binyon

1869–1943 • British Museum Curator & Red Cross Orderly

Scholar of art and poetry who volunteered as a hospital orderly in France in 1916. Wrote For the Fallen while sitting on the cliffs of Cornwall in September 1914. Its fourth stanza was adopted worldwide as the Ode of Remembrance.

For the Fallen (The Ode of Remembrance)

BY LAURENCE BINYON • SEPTEMBER 1914 • RECITED NIGHTLY AT THE MENIN GATE

*With proud thanksgiving, a mother for her children,
England mourns for her dead across the sea.
Flesh of her flesh they were, spirit of her spirit,
Fallen in the cause of the free.*

*Solemn the drums thrill: Death august and royal
Sings sorrow up into immortal spheres,
There is music in the midst of desolation
And a glory that shines upon our tears.*

*They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.*

🕯️ CADET REFLECTION (TYNE COT MEMORIAL WALL & 34,984 MISSING):

CAPT. CYRIL LOWRY (PLOT LXII. D. 12)

The Menin Gate Memorial: Designed by Sir Reginald Blomfield, inaugurated in 1927.

The Gateway to Battle: Through this gate hundreds of thousands of men marched towards the frontline trenches. Carved into its stone panels are the names of 54,395 soldiers missing in the Salient prior to August 1917.

Siegfried Sassoon

1886–1967 • Captain, Royal Welch Fusiliers (MC)

Decorated for reckless courage ("Mad Jack"), Sassoon became the foremost soldier-critic of the war. Attending the 1927 dedication of the Menin Gate, he reacted with fury against its grand architecture, believing it sanitized the suffering of the dead.

On Passing the New Menin Gate

BY SIEGFRIED SASSOON • WRITTEN UPON THE MEMORIAL'S UNVEILING, 1927

*Who will remember, passing through this Gate,
The unheroic Dead who fed the guns?
Who shall absolve the foulness of their fate,—
Those doomed, conscripted, unvictorious ones?
Crudely renewed, the Salient holds its own.
Paid are its expenses by alone
The unknown dead who face the gaping void.
Here was the world's worst wound. And here with pride
'Their name liveth for ever,' the Gateway claims.
Was ever an immolation so belied
As these intolerably nameless names?
Well might the Dead who struggled in the slime
Rise and deride this sepulchre of crime.*

🔥 PERSONAL REFLECTIONS ON THE LAST POST CEREMONY & THE MISSING:

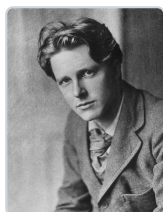

SOUNDING OF THE BUGLES AT 20:00

The Cloth Hall, Ypres (1919): Watercolour by Scottish war artist Emily Murray Paterson RSW (1855–1934), painted on-site amidst the ruins after the Armistice (Imperial War Museum collection).

Talbot House Façade, Poperinge: The exterior façade on Gasthuisstraat, opened in December 1915 by Rev. Philip 'Tubby' Clayton as an unranked sanctuary for all soldiers behind the lines.

Rupert Brooke

1887–1915 · Sub-Lieutenant, Royal Naval Division

Cambridge scholar whose handsome charisma and patriotic sonnets captivated the nation in 1914. Brooke captured the early Edwardian idealism before trench warfare set in. Died of sepsis on a hospital ship off Skyros on 23 April 1915 on his way to Gallipoli.

The Soldier

BY RUPERT BROOKE · WRITTEN LATE 1914

*If I should die, think only this of me:
That there's some corner of a foreign field
That is for ever England. There shall be
In that rich earth a richer dust concealed;
A dust whom England bore, shaped, made aware,
Gave, once, her flowers to love, her ways to roam;
A body of England's, breathing English air,
Washed by the rivers, blest by suns of home.*

*And think, this heart, all evil shed away,
A pulse in the eternal mind, no less
Gives somewhere back the thoughts by England given;
Her sights and sounds; dreams happy as her day;
And laughter, learnt of friends; and gentleness,
In hearts at peace, under an English heaven.*
