

MEONCROSS SCHOOL | HISTORY DEPARTMENT

FROM DEMOCRACY TO DICTATORSHIP: HOW DID HITLER DESTROY THE WEIMAR REPUBLIC?

*Paper 3: Weimar and Nazi Germany, 1918-39 -
Key Topic 1: The Weimar Republic*

Scholar: _____

Class: _____

PROGRESS & ASSESSMENT TRACKER

TARGET GRADE: _____

Grade	9-1 GCSE Grading Scale
Lesson / Assessment Title	Effort	Level	Teacher Comments
L1: KT1.1: The Origins of the Republic, 1918–1919
L2: KT1.2: Early Challenges to the Republic, 1919–1923
L3: KT1.3: The Recovery of the Republic, 1924–1929
L4: KT1.4: Changes in Society, 1924–1929
Final Unit Grade:

L1: KT1.1: The Origins of the Republic, 1918–1919

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- ☐ Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge of the catastrophic social, economic, and political situation in Germany at the end of the First World War.
- ☐ Analyse the chronological sequence of events that led to the abdication of Kaiser Wilhelm II, the signing of the Armistice, and the birth of the Republic.
- ☐ Evaluate the democratic strengths and structural weaknesses of the new Weimar Constitution, judging the extent to which it left the Republic vulnerable to instability.

Do Now Activity

Score: / 10

What was the Triple Entente in the First World War?

What was the Triple Alliance?

What is a 'dictatorship'?

What is a 'democracy'?

What does 'abdicate' mean?

What is a 'republic'?

What does 'inflation' mean?

What is an 'armistice'?

What does 'mutiny' mean?

In what year did the First World War begin?

Vocabulary Check

Fill in the blanks using the vocabulary words below.

Reichstag | Reichsrat | Armistice | Constitution | Dolchstoßlegende | November Criminals | Proportional Representation (PR) | Coalition Government | Article 48

Following the sudden signing of the [.] in 1918, furious right-wing nationalists spread the [.] (stab-in-the-back myth), branding the democratic politicians who surrendered as treasonous [.]. The new Weimar [.] created a highly democratic system where the lower house, the [.], passed laws while the upper house, the [.], could delay them. However, the voting system of [.] meant no single party could win a majority, leading to weak, constantly shifting [.] alliances. This instability forced the President to frequently rely on the emergency powers granted by [.] to rule by decree.

Pair & Share Activity

Q1. Prompt: Discuss with your partner: Was the Weimar Republic doomed from the start?

Think: Spend 1 minute quietly considering the question and forming your own opinion.

Your Notes:

Causal Linkage

Q2. Write a short paragraph explaining how the conditions described in Source C directly led to the events in Source D.

Constrained Summary

Q3. Summarize the potential danger of Source E (Article 48) in exactly 12 words.

The 'But/Because/So' Strategy

Q4. Complete these three sentences with historically accurate details: 1) Proportional Representation was highly democratic, BUT... 2) Philipp Scheidemann rushed to declare a Republic BECAUSE... 3) The army felt betrayed by the Armistice, SO...

Causal Linkage

Q5. Write a short paragraph explaining exactly how the British Naval Blockade eventually led to the Abdication of the Kaiser. You must explain the chain reaction of events (the 'domino effect') that connects them.

Transforming Information

Q6. Imagine you are an advisor to President Ebert in 1919. Write a short, urgent memo to him explaining which specific weakness of the new Constitution (Article 48, Proportional Representation, or Coalitions) poses the greatest threat to the Republic, and why.

Vocabulary in Context

Q7. Write a 4-sentence summary of the birth of the Weimar Republic. You must use all five of these keywords correctly: Autocracy, Dolchstoßlegende, November Criminals, Armistice, Reichstag.

The 'Diamond Ranking' Challenge

Q8. You have been given four reasons why the Weimar Republic was highly unstable in 1919:

- 1. The legacy of the First World War
- 2. The 'Stab-in-the-back' myth
- 3. Proportional Representation
- 4. Article 48

Rank these four causes in order of importance. Write a persuasive, open-ended paragraph justifying your #1 choice over your #2 choice.

Level 9 Challenge: In your paragraph, use complex causal reasoning to explicitly explain how your #1 cause directly triggered or worsened your #2 cause.

GCSE Exam Practice

Source C: An extract from the diary of Princess Evelyn Blücher, an Englishwoman living in Berlin, written in November 1918.

"The people are crying out for bread... The revolution is not a political one, but a revolution of empty stomachs. The Allied blockade has done its work; the people are simply too starved to fight any longer."

Source D: General Wilhelm Groener recalling his secret telephone agreement with Chancellor Friedrich Ebert on 9 November 1918 (The Ebert-Groener Pact).

"In the evening I telephoned the Reich Chancellery and told Ebert that the army put itself at the disposal of his government... In return, the officer corps expected the government to fight against Bolshevism and radical workers' councils."

Source E: An extract from Article 48 of the Weimar Constitution, signed into law in August 1919.

"If public security and order are seriously disturbed or endangered within the German Reich, the President of the Reich may take measures necessary for their restoration, intervening if need be with the assistance of the armed forces."

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

Q9. 2. Explain why the German Republic was established in 1918-19 .

You may use the following in your answer:

- The abdication of the Kaiser
- The threat of communist revolution

You must also use information of your own.

[12 marks • 15 mins]

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

[illegible]

Exam Sources & Interpretations

Source A: From a speech by Philipp Scheidemann, announcing the new Republic from the balcony of the Reichstag, 9 November 1918.

"Workers and soldiers! The German people have won all along the line! The old and rotten monarchy has collapsed. Long live the new German Republic!"

Source B (Contemporary Written Source): From the diary of a Berlin resident, November 1918.

The city is in complete chaos. Thousands of armed factory workers and returning soldiers have occupied the municipal buildings and are marching in groups through the streets. The Kaiser has fled to exile, leaving no authority behind. Armed workers' and soldiers' councils are declaring that they are the new leaders, and the provisional government seems entirely powerless to maintain public order.

Source C (Contemporary Written Source): From a letter written by a conservative army officer, November 1918.

The Chancellor, Friedrich Ebert, contacted General Groener. The general promised that the officer corps would place the regular army at the disposal of the new provisional government to restore order. In return, our military leadership expects the government to support the officer corps and immediately suppress the threat of Bolshevism and radical workers' councils.

Interpretation 1 (The Superficial Transition View):

The transition of power in November 1918 was fundamentally a superficial compromise that failed to achieve a deep, revolutionary transformation. The moderate Social Democrats, terrified of a Bolshevik-style uprising, made quick alliances with the old imperial elites, particularly the army officer corps. As a result, the judiciary, the civil service, and the military command remained entirely unchanged. This meant the old, anti-democratic power structures survived intact beneath the surface of the new democratic state.

Interpretation 2 (The Genuine Democratic Victory View):

The German Revolution of 1918 was a genuine and hard-fought victory for democratic forces working under chaotic conditions. The Social Democratic leadership successfully managed to prevent a violent civil war and a communist takeover by establishing a legitimate, representative government. The creation of workers' councils did not represent a descent into anarchy, but rather a temporary, practical method used by citizens to secure political liberty and establish a parliamentary republic.

Q10. 1. Give two things you can infer from Source A about the establishment of the Weimar Republic in November 1918.

(i) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

(ii) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q11. 3a. How useful are Sources B and C for an enquiry into The origins of the Republic, 1918–1919?

[8 marks • 10 mins]

Q12. 3b. Study Interpretations 1 and 2. They give different views about The German Revolution of 1918. What is the main difference between these views?

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q13. 3c. Suggest one reason why Interpretations 1 and 2 give different views about The German Revolution of 1918. You may use Sources B and C to help explain your answer.

[4 marks • 5 mins]

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

Q14. 3d. How far do you agree with Interpretation 2 about The German Revolution of 1918? Explain your answer, using both interpretations and your knowledge of the historical context.

[16 marks • 20 mins]

[illegible]

[illegible]

 Pupil Voice

How did the events of today's lesson make you feel, and why?

General Notes

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

L2: KT1.2: Early Challenges to the Republic, 1919–1923

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- ☐ Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge of the Treaty of Versailles and explain why it made the Republic instantly unpopular.
- ☐ Analyse the political challenges from the extreme Left (the Spartacist Uprising) and the extreme Right (the Kapp Putsch), evaluating why the Republic struggled to maintain authority.
- ☐ Evaluate the causes and devastating social and economic consequences of the 1923 Ruhr crisis and hyperinflation, identifying the 'winners' and 'losers' of the economic collapse.

Do Now Activity

Score: / 10

When did the First World War end?

Who was the Kaiser of Germany during WW1?

Why did the Kaiser abdicate?

What was the 'stab in the back' myth (Dolchstoßlegende)?

Who were the 'November Criminals'?

What is a 'democracy'?

What is a 'republic'?

What does 'mutiny' mean?

What was the Triple Entente?

What does 'abdicate' mean?

Vocabulary Check

Write a historically accurate sentence connecting two terms from the glossary box below.

Diktat | Reparations | Spartacist League | Freikorps | Putsch | Passive Resistance |
Hyperinflation

Your Sentence:

Pair & Share Activity

Q1. Prompt: Discuss with your partner: Which was the greater threat to the Republic: the extreme Left (Spartacists) or the extreme Right (Kapp)?

Think: Spend 1 minute quietly considering the question and forming your own opinion.

Your Notes:

The 'But/Because/So' Strategy

Q2. Complete the following sentences based on the lesson's narrative, explaining the cause-and-effect relationships:

- 1. The Treaty of Versailles was deeply unpopular in Germany, BUT...
- 2. The Weimar Republic faced numerous challenges from both the left and the right BECAUSE...
- 3. The Ruhr Crisis and the policy of Passive Resistance led to Hyperinflation, SO...

Vocabulary in Context

Q3. Write a short paragraph (3-5 sentences) explaining the interconnectedness of the terms: Diktat, Reparations, Passive Resistance, and Hyperinflation in the context of the Weimar Republic's early challenges.

Prioritising Causes

Q4. Of the challenges discussed in the lesson (Treaty of Versailles/Reparations, political uprisings like the Spartacist Uprising and Kapp Putsch, and the Ruhr Crisis/Hyperinflation), which do you think was the most damaging to the Weimar Republic's stability between 1919-1923 and why? Justify your choice with specific details.

Counter-Factual History

Q5. Imagine the Weimar Republic had successfully negotiated a significantly reduced reparations payment in 1920, avoiding the Ruhr Crisis and subsequent Hyperinflation. How might the political landscape of Germany have evolved differently by 1923, particularly concerning the rise of extremist groups like the Nazi Party?

GCSE Exam Practice

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

Q6. 2. Explain why the Treaty of Versailles caused significant challenges for the Weimar Republic in the years 1919-1923 .

You may use the following in your answer:

- Reparations
- The 'stab-in-the-back' myth

You must also use information of your own.

Q6. 2. Explain why the Treaty of Versailles caused significant challenges for the Weimar Republic in the years 1919-1923 .

You may use the following in your answer:

- Reparations
- The 'stab-in-the-back' myth

You must also use information of your own.

- Q6. 2. Explain why the Treaty of Versailles caused significant challenges for the Weimar Republic in the years 1919-1923 .
- You may use the following in your answer:
- Reparations
 - The 'stab-in-the-back' myth
- You must also use information of your own.

Q6. 2. Explain why the Treaty of Versailles caused significant challenges for the Weimar Republic in the years 1919-1923 .

You may use the following in your answer:

- Reparations
- The 'stab-in-the-back' myth

You must also use information of your own.

Q6. 2. Explain why the Treaty of Versailles caused significant challenges for the Weimar Republic in the years 1919-1923 .

You may use the following in your answer:

- Reparations
- The 'stab-in-the-back' myth

You must also use information of your own.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Blank lined paper for writing.

Exam Sources & Interpretations

Source A: An extract from the Treaty of Versailles, signed 28 June 1919. This is Article 231.

"The Allied and Associated Governments affirm and Germany accepts the responsibility of Germany and her allies for causing all the loss and damage to which the Allied and Associated Governments and their nationals have been subjected as a consequence of the war imposed upon them by the aggression of Germany and her allies."

Source B (Contemporary Written Source): From an article in the right-wing newspaper Deutsche Zeitung, 29 June 1919.

Yesterday, in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles, a disgraceful treaty was signed. The German nation must never forget this humiliation. On that spot, our national honor was dragged to its grave. We must work tirelessly to rebuild our strength, and there will eventually be revenge for the undeserved shame of 1919.

Source C (Contemporary Written Source): From a public speech delivered by a right-wing nationalist politician, 1920.

Our proud military did not fail on the battlefield. They were betrayed and stabbed in the back by the cowardly civilian politicians who surrendered in November 1918. Now, these 'November Criminals' have submitted to a dictated peace that forces us to take total blame for the war and pay a crushing, unpayable reparations bill of £6.6 billion.

Interpretation 1 (The Crippling Blow View):

The peace terms imposed in June 1919 were an exceptionally vindictive act of economic plunder that fundamentally crippled the young Republic from its birth. By stripping Germany of its key industrial coalfields and imposing astronomical reparations, the Allies doomed the Weimar economy to constant instability. The harshness of the Diktat permanently linked the democratic government with national humiliation and defeat in the minds of voters.

Interpretation 2 (The Manageable Settlement View):

The Treaty of Versailles was undoubtedly severe, but it was far more manageable than right-wing propaganda suggested. Thanks to the moderation of the Allies, Germany lost remarkably little of its core European territory and retained its massive industrial potential. The true threat to the Republic's stability was not the treaty's physical terms, but the psychological refusal of the German public and the conservative elites to accept that they had been militarily defeated.

Q7. 1. Give two things you can infer from Source A about Allied attitudes towards Germany at the Versailles Peace Conference.

(i) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

(ii) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q8. 3a. How useful are Sources B and C for an enquiry into the impact of the Treaty of Versailles on the Weimar Republic?

[8 marks • 10 mins]

Q9. 3b. Study Interpretations 1 and 2. They give different views about the impact of the Treaty of Versailles on the Weimar Republic. What is the main difference between these views?

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q10. 3c. Suggest one reason why Interpretations 1 and 2 give different views about the impact of the Treaty of Versailles. You may use Sources B and C to help explain your answer.

[4 marks • 5 mins]

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

1

[16 marks • 20 mins]

[illegible]

[illegible]

General Notes

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

L3: KT1.3: The Recovery of the Republic, 1924–1929

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- ☐ Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge of Stresemann's economic strategies, including the Rentenmark, the Dawes Plan, and the Young Plan.
- ☐ Analyse Stresemann's foreign policy achievements (the Locarno Pact, joining the League of Nations, the Kellogg-Briand Pact) and explain how they restored German pride.
- ☐ Evaluate the extent of German recovery by 1929, distinguishing between genuine political stability and superficial economic prosperity.

Do Now Activity

Score: / 10

What was the Weimar Constitution?

What was Proportional Representation (PR)?

Why was Proportional Representation a weakness?

What was Article 48?

Who was the first President of the Weimar Republic?

What was the 'stab in the back' myth?

Who were the 'November Criminals'?

When did WW1 end?

What is an 'armistice'?

What does 'inflation' mean?

Vocabulary Check

Write a clear definition and a historically accurate sentence for the term: Rentenmark

Pair & Share Activity

Q1. Prompt: Discuss with your partner: Was Stresemann's recovery a true Golden Age or just a mirage?

Think: Spend 1 minute quietly considering the question and forming your own opinion.

Your Notes:

The 'But/Because/So' Strategy

Q2. Complete the following sentences based on the lesson: 1) Germany's economy experienced a period of recovery and stability between 1924 and 1929, BUT... 2) Gustav Stresemann was a pivotal figure in Germany's recovery BECAUSE... 3) Germany regained significant international standing SO...

Vocabulary in Context

Q3. Using at least three of the keywords (Rentenmark, Reichsmark, Dawes Plan, Young Plan, Locarno Pact, League of Nations, Kellogg-Briand Pact), write a short paragraph explaining how Germany achieved both economic stability and improved international relations during the 'Golden Twenties'.

Causal Linkage

Q4. Explain the causal link between Germany's economic recovery and its ability to achieve foreign policy successes between 1924 and 1929. How did one directly enable the other?

Complex Causal Reasoning

Q5. To what extent was Germany's 'recovery' between 1924 and 1929 a genuine and sustainable improvement, or was it built on fragile foundations? Argue both sides, considering the interconnectedness of economic, political, and foreign policy factors.

GCSE Exam Practice

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

Q6. 2. Explain why the Weimar Republic experienced a period of recovery between 1924 and 1929 .

You may use the following in your answer:

- Stresemann's economic policies (Dawes Plan, Rentenmark)
- Stresemann's foreign policy (Locarno, League of Nations)

You must also use information of your own.

You may use the following in your answer:

- Stresemann's economic policies (Dawes Plan, Rentenmark)
- Stresemann's foreign policy (Locarno, League of Nations)

You must also use information of your own.

[12 marks • 15 mins]

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no vertical margin lines or other markings present. The paper appears to be a standard sheet of notebook paper.

Blank lined paper for writing.

Exam Sources & Interpretations

Source A: Gustav Stresemann speaking to the League of Nations, 1926.

"It is my firm belief that the terrible events of the World War have produced a new spirit... We cannot conceal from ourselves that there is still much which divides the nations, but we must reach a state of mutual understanding."

Source B (Contemporary Written Source): From a private letter written by Gustav Stresemann, September 1928.

Our economic recovery is only flourishing on the surface. Germany is, in fact, dancing on a volcano. If our American creditors should ever decide to call in their short-term loans, a very large section of our industrial and commercial economy will collapse immediately.

Source C (Contemporary Written Source): From an article in a German financial newspaper, late 1928.

Our national economy has finally achieved genuine stability. Through the Dawes Plan and massive American investment, our factories have been modernized with advanced assembly-line techniques, causing industrial production to soar. Support for extremist parties like the Nazis has collapsed, proving that our citizens are contented and that the Weimar Republic is finally safe.

Interpretation 1 (The Genuine Recovery View):

The period between 1924 and 1929 represented a genuine era of political and economic recovery. Under Stresemann's foreign policy, Germany negotiated the Rentenmark, the Dawes Plan, and the Locarno Pact, which restored national prestige and ended hyperinflation. The coalition parties worked together constructively, and the drastic fall in votes for radical parties proved that Weimar democracy had stabilized.

Interpretation 2 (The Superficial Illusion View):

The economic prosperity of the mid-1920s was a fragile, superficial illusion built on quicksand foundations. The German economy was dangerously over-dependent on short-term US loans that could be withdrawn at a moment's notice. Furthermore, structural weaknesses remained unresolved: unemployment never fell below 1.3 million, small family businesses continued to go bankrupt, and the agricultural farming sector was in a deep depression.

Q7. 1. Give two things you can infer from Source A about Gustav Stresemann's foreign policy goals in the 1920s.

(i) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

(ii) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q9. 3b. Study Interpretations 1 and 2. They give different views about Stresemann's Recovery. What is the main difference between these views?

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q10. 3c. Suggest one reason why Interpretations 1 and 2 give different views about Stresemann's Recovery. You may use Sources B and C to help explain your answer.

[4 marks • 5 mins]

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

Q11. 3d. How far do you agree with Interpretation 2 about Stresemann's Recovery? Explain your answer, using both interpretations and your knowledge of the historical context.

[16 marks • 20 mins]

[illegible]

Blank lined paper for writing.

[illegible]

Pupil Voice

If you were teaching this lesson to Year 6, what is the ONE most important thing you would make sure they remembered?

General Notes

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

L4: KT1.4: Changes in Society, 1924–1929

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- ☐ Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge of changes in the standard of living, including wages, housing, and unemployment insurance.
- ☐ Analyse the changing position of women in politics, work, and leisure, contrasting the reality of their lives with the image of the 'New Woman'.
- ☐ Evaluate the explosion of cultural changes in art, cinema, and architecture, judging why this provoked such fierce opposition from traditionalists and extremists.

Do Now Activity

Score: / 10

Which treaty punished Germany after WW1?

How much was Germany forced to pay in reparations?

What was Article 231?

How was the German army restricted by the Treaty?

What happened to the Rhineland?

What was Proportional Representation?

What was Article 48?

Who were the November Criminals?

Who was Friedrich Ebert?

What is a 'dictatorship'?

Vocabulary Check

Fill in the blanks using the vocabulary words below.

Standard of Living | Unemployment Insurance Act (1927) | New Woman (Neue Frau) | Article 109
| Avant-garde | New Objectivity (Neue Sachlichkeit) | Bauhaus

During the 'Golden Age', Germany's [.] improved for many, supported by progressive welfare reforms like the [.]. Women were granted equal voting rights under [.], paving the way for the socially liberated, independent [.] who embraced modern fashion and work. Culturally, Berlin became a vibrant hub of [.] experimentation; artists embraced the realism of [.], while the revolutionary [.] movement transformed architecture and design with its sleek, functional aesthetic.

Pair & Share Activity

Q1. Prompt: Discuss with your partner: Did the changes in society (1924-1929) benefit all Germans equally?

Think: Spend 1 minute quietly considering the question and forming your own opinion.

Your Notes:

The 'But/Because/So' Strategy

Q2. Complete the following sentences based on the provided text: 1) The standard of living generally improved in Germany between 1924-1929 BUT... 2) The 'New Woman' became a prominent figure in Weimar society BECAUSE... 3) Weimar culture saw an explosion of avant-garde movements SO...

Vocabulary in Context

Q3. Using at least FOUR of the provided keywords (Standard of Living, Unemployment Insurance Act (1927), New Woman (Neue Frau), Article 109, Avant-garde, New Objectivity (Neue Sachlichkeit), Bauhaus), write a short paragraph (approx. 70-100 words) explaining how society changed in Weimar Germany between 1924 and 1929.

Causal Linkage

Q4. Explain the causal links between Germany's economic stability (1924-1929), the emergence of the 'New Woman', and the flourishing of avant-garde culture. How did these three elements influence each other?

Counter-Factual History

Q5. Imagine the 'Golden Age' of Weimar Germany (1924-1929) never happened, and instead, economic instability and high unemployment persisted throughout the decade. How might the development of the 'New Woman' and the flourishing of avant-garde culture have been significantly different, or even stifled? Provide specific reasons and examples.

GCSE Exam Practice

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

Q6. 2. Explain why there were significant changes in German society between 1924 and 1929 .

You may use the following in your answer:

- the new constitution
- economic recovery

You must also use information of your own.

[12 marks • 15 mins]

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Blank lined paper for writing.

Exam Sources & Interpretations

Source A: An article from a German magazine in 1926 describing the 'New Woman'.

"The new woman has cut her hair short, wears practical clothes and goes out to work. She no longer wants to be confined to the kitchen and the nursery. She wants to be an equal partner in marriage and in society."

Source B (Contemporary Written Source): From a progressive women's lifestyle magazine, Berlin, 1927.

The new constitution has legally guaranteed our equality with men, and we are entering work and politics in unprecedented numbers. The modern young woman cuts her hair short, wears fashionable clothes, and enjoys her leisure time independently. We have rejected the old, conservative domestic role of our mothers to become active citizens in our own right.

Source C (Contemporary Written Source): From a letter written by a conservative Protestant group, Hanover, 1928.

We watch with deep concern as our young women abandon their sacred domestic duties. They are encouraged by modern magazines to pursue aimless office work and immoral leisure, rather than preparing to become mothers and housewives. This rise of the 'New Woman' is a direct assault on the traditional family, which has always been the source of our nation's moral strength.

Interpretation 1 (The Social Liberation View):

The Weimar era brought a profound, lasting social and political liberation for German women. The introduction of female suffrage in 1918 resulted in high female representation in the Reichstag, while economic recovery opened up millions of new white-collar job opportunities. This allowed a new generation of independent, financially self-sufficient women to confidently challenge traditional gender roles.

Interpretation 2 (The Traditionalist Backlash View):

The concept of the liberated 'New Woman' was an urban myth that did not reflect the reality for the vast majority of German women. Most women remained trapped in low-paid, unskilled agricultural and domestic work, and the constitution's promises of equality were rarely enforced in the workplace. The visible changes in Berlin cabaret culture actually provoked a massive, hostile traditionalist backlash that weakened the Republic.

Q7. 1. Give two things you can infer from Source A about changes in the lives of women in Weimar Germany during the 1920s.

(i) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

(ii) What I can infer:

Details in the source that tell me this:

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q8. 3a. How useful are Sources B and C for an enquiry into changes in society, 1924–1929?

Page 50 of 56

Q9. 3b. Study Interpretations 1 and 2. They give different views about Weimar Women. What is the main difference between these views?

[4 marks • 5 mins]

Q10. 3c. Suggest one reason why Interpretations 1 and 2 give different views about Weimar Women. You may use Sources B and C to help explain your answer.

[4 marks • 5 mins]

TEACHER FEEDBACK / D.I.R.T.

100

[16 marks • 20 mins]

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

This image shows a full page of blank, lined paper. It features approximately 28 horizontal blue lines spaced evenly across the page, typical of standard notebook paper. The lines are thin and light blue, set against a plain white background. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the page.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Pupil Voice

What is one question about today's topic that we didn't answer, that you'd like to research further?

General Notes

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

End of Unit Reflection & Pupil Voice

Unit: Paper 3: Weimar & Nazi Germany (1918–39)

Instructions: Now that you have completed your final assessment, take 10 minutes to reflect on your learning across this entire unit. Be honest—this is your chance to use your Pupil Voice to help your teacher plan future lessons.

1. What Went Well (WWW)

What topic or skill did you find most engaging or easiest to understand in this unit?

2. Even Better If (EBI)

What did you find most challenging? Are there any concepts you are still confused about?

3. Effort & Target Setting

Circle your effort level for this unit: 1 (Low) 2 3 4 5 (Excellent)

What is one specific target you want to set for yourself in the next unit?

Teacher Feedback & Coaching

(To be completed during live marking / feedback lessons)