SECTION C: HIGH-SCORING EXEMPLAR RESPONSES

Official Pearson Edexcel Level 3 continuous prose exemplars with examiner annotations.

GRADE 8/9 MODELS: Q1 & Q3

QUESTION 1: CONSEQUENCE EXEMPLAR

Full Marks · Level 2 (4/4)

Explain one consequence of the Treaty of Washington (1979) for Egyptian relations with other Arab states.

One consequence of the Treaty of Washington (1979) was that Egypt was politically and economically ostracized by the rest of the Arab world. Signed on 26 March 1979 by Anwar Sadat and Menachem Begin, the bilateral treaty made Egypt the first Arab nation to formally recognize Israel in exchange for the return of the Sinai Peninsula. Arab League nations viewed this as a treacherous betrayal of the Palestinian cause, voting immediately to suspend Egypt from the Arab League, move the League's headquarters from Cairo to Tunis, and sever diplomatic ties. This regional isolation shattered pan-Arab diplomatic solidarity and fueled domestic Islamist fury inside Egypt, leading directly to Sadat's assassination in October 1981.

Examiner Annotation: Level 2 (4 Marks): Direct point on Arab ostracization; specific evidence (26 March 1979, Arab League suspension, Tunis move, Sadat assassination); causal explanation of why this severed pan-Arab unity.

QUESTION 3: IMPORTANCE EXEMPLAR

Full Marks · Level 3 (8/8)

Explain the importance of the Oslo Accords (1993) for the setting up of the Palestinian National Authority.

The Oslo Accords (Declaration of Principles) were important because they established the legal and administrative framework for formal Palestinian self-government for the first time. Signed on 13 September 1993 following secret Norwegian backchannel talks, the agreement mandated that Israel would withdraw its military forces from the Gaza Strip and the West Bank town of Jericho, transferring civil administration to an interim Palestinian authority. This breakthrough transformed the PLO from an exiled guerrilla organization into an internationally recognized civilian government, creating the Palestinian National Authority (PNA) in May 1994.

Furthermore, the Oslo Accords were important because they enabled Yasser Arafat and the exiled PLO leadership to return to Palestine to govern directly. In July 1994, Arafat returned to Gaza after 27 years in exile to head the newly established PNA, creating an elected Palestinian Legislative Council and a dedicated Palestinian civil police force. Although the accords controversially deferred permanent status issues (borders, Jerusalem, refugees), the creation of the PNA permanently altered Middle Eastern politics by granting Palestinians direct administrative authority over their major population centres.

Examiner Annotation: Level 3 (8 Marks): Direct focus on setting up the PNA; precise facts (13 Sept 1993, Jericho and Gaza withdrawal, July 1994 return, police force); clear evaluation of immediate governance vs deferred final status issues.

SECTION C: NARRATIVE EXEMPLAR & FATAL EXAMINER TRAPS

Official Level 3 continuous prose model answer and high-frequency pitfalls to avoid.

GRADE 8/9 MODEL: Q2

QUESTION 2: NARRATIVE ACCOUNT EXEMPLAR

Full Marks · Level 3 (8/8)

Write a narrative account analysing diplomatic negotiations between Egypt and Israel from Sadat’s visit (1977) to the Treaty of Washington (1979).

Diplomatic negotiations began with Anwar Sadat’s unprecedented direct peace initiative in November 1977. Recognising that Egypt’s economy was exhausted by warfare and seeking to reclaim the Sinai Peninsula, Sadat shocked the world by flying to Jerusalem on 19 November and addressing the Israeli Knesset, proclaiming "no more war" and offering direct bilateral negotiations. While Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin made a reciprocal visit to Ismailia in December, negotiations soon stalled over Israeli unwillingness to dismantle Jewish settlements in Sinai and grant Palestinian autonomy.

Faced with complete diplomatic collapse, US President Jimmy Carter intervened decisively in September 1978 by inviting Sadat and Begin to a secluded 13-day summit at Camp David. Carter conducted intensive marathon diplomacy, drafting 23 revisions of the agreements to mediate between Begin’s rigid legalism and Sadat’s emotional demands. Carter’s personal pressure successfully produced the Camp David Accords on 17 September 1978, establishing two frameworks: one for the full return of the Sinai Peninsula to Egypt in exchange for peace, and a second, vaguer framework for interim self-government in the West Bank and Gaza.

This breakthrough directly culminated in the signing of the formal Treaty of Washington on the White House lawn on 26 March 1979. Under the treaty, Israel agreed to completely evacuate the Sinai Peninsula (dismantling the Yamit settlement) and reopen the Suez Canal to Israeli shipping, while Egypt became the first Arab state to recognize Israel’s right to exist. This historic treaty fundamentally transformed Middle East geopolitics by removing the largest and most powerful Arab military from the anti-Israel coalition, ending thirty years of state-on-state warfare between Egypt and Israel.

Examiner Annotation: Level 3 (8 Marks): Complete 3-stage causal progression from Knesset speech through Camp David mediation to the Treaty of Washington; explicit explanation of Carter’s personal intervention; detailed knowledge (19 Nov 1977, 13-day summit, Yamit, 26 March 1979).
