Witan | Claimant | Succession Crisis | Feigned Retreat | Shield Wall

Q1. The Claimants' Pitch (Group Battle) Imagine you are an adviser to the Witan (the council of English lords) in January 1066. Write a short persuasive speech (3-4 sentences) for ONE of the three claimants (Harold, William, or Hardrada) convincing the lords why they should choose your man to be King. Hint: Make sure you use their specific historical evidence (like Harold's deathbed promise, William's holy oath, or Hardrada's old Viking treaty) to make your case!

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Q2. The Exhaustion Timeline (Why Timing was Everything) Historians argue that William was incredibly lucky with the weather in September 1066. 1. Calculate the days: How many days did Harold have between fighting the Vikings at Stamford Bridge (25 Sept) and fighting the Normans at Hastings (14 Oct)? 2. Explain the impact: Write a short explanation of how the timing of the two invasions left Harold's army at a massive disadvantage before the Battle of Hastings even started.

Drawing Task: Q3 Tension Timeline Draw a line graph mapping King Harold's stress levels day-by-day throughout September and October 1066. Label key events such as waiting for the wind, hearing about the Viking invasion, winning at Stamford Bridge, and the Norman landing.

Q4. Source Analysis (Source A) According to Source A, what was the main reason King Harold lost the battle? Hint: Look at the sentence describing how William arrived at the battlefield.

Q5. Source Analysis (Source B) Look at Source B (The Bayeux Tapestry). How does this source support the idea that Harold's death was chaotic and brutal?

Q6. Hastings Tactical Analysis (How the Battle was Won) Copy and complete the flow diagram below to show how the battle shifted in William's favour.

1. Saxon Shield Wall holds firm on the high ground

Q7. The Turning Point Debate (Evaluation) Look at the list of reasons why William won: - William's clever tactics (the feigned retreat) - Harold's mistakes (letting his men chase the retreating Normans) - Bad luck for Harold (having to fight two invasions at opposite ends of the country) - William's leadership (keeping his men motivated and organized) Write a brief paragraph arguing which of these was the single most important reason William won the throne. Use evidence from your notes to justify your choice!

Q8 Put these key events of 1066 in the correct chronological order to map out the dramatic sequence of events.

- ☐ Edward the Confessor dies without a direct heir.
- ☐ Harold Godwinson is crowned King of England.
- ☐ Harald Hardrada and the Vikings invade the north of England.
- ☐ Harold Godwinson marches north and defeats the Vikings at Stamford Bridge.
- ☐ The wind changes, allowing William's Norman fleet to cross the English Channel.
- ☐ The English army rushes south but is defeated by the Normans at the Battle of Hastings.
